GREYSTONE GIVES

Giving back to the communities we serve is a core value at GreyStone Power. This commitment reflects the cooperative principle of concern for community and is central to everything we do.

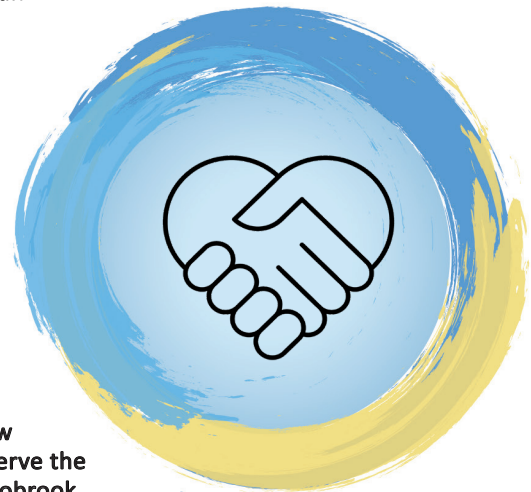

In the summer of 2018, GreyStone Power deepened its commitment to community by launching GreyStone Gives, an employee-driven service initiative. Through this program, employees receive eight hours annually to volunteer with 501(c)(3) nonprofit organizations within GreyStone's service area. Participation can be individual or through group volunteer events organized throughout the year.

"I was approached by our HR team about finding a new initiative for GreyStone to serve the community," says Danny Alsobrook, purchasing manager at GreyStone. "CAYA, or Come As You Are, is a reconciliation ministry. They help to provide food over the summer to kids who typically receive a free or reduced-price lunch during the school year."

GreyStone employees have volunteered for numerous events in the past, including Read Across America, reading stories to young children at Bessie L. Baggett Elementary School, cleaning and pressure washing a S.H.A.R.E. House facility and packing lunches with CAYA.

According to GreyStone Gives volunteer and member services representative Jurnea Hicks, the program provides meaningful benefits to both the community and the employees who participate.

"The experience volunteering at the church was very empowering," Hicks says. "Helping children with lunches really makes me feel that I am making a change in my community no matter how big or how small."
