GREYSTONE GIVES

At GreyStone Power, giving back is a core value rooted in our cooperative principles and concern for the communities we serve. To deepen this commitment, we launched GreyStone Gives, an employee-driven volunteer initiative. Every year, our team members receive eight hours of paid time to volunteer with local 501(c)(3) nonprofits. Whether stepping up individually or joining forces in organized team events, our employees are making a tangible difference right where they live and work.

"GreyStone's impact on CAYA (Come As You Are) Ministries is tremendous," says Pastor Dan Pervorse, the head of CAYA. "They come in and knock out hundreds of lunches in a matter of hours. It's a big help to our organization that's run on volunteers." For more information about CAYA, check out the May episode of the Power Line Podcast, where we interviewed Pastor Dan Pervorse about the organization and how you can help too.

Our team's hands-on impact spans a variety of projects each year. Employees have participated in Read Across America by reading to students at Bessie L. Baggett Elementary School, refreshed local facilities through cleaning and pressure washing projects at the S.H.A.R.E. House, a family violence crisis center, and fought childhood hunger by packing nutritious meals with CAYA.

For GreyStone Gives volunteer and Member Services Training Specialist Jennifer Saint Jean, the rewards go both ways. "I've been volunteering at the reading event for the past couple years and it's amazing to see the impact," Jennifer shares. "I'm so honored to be giving back to the future generation."

Looking ahead, the GreyStone team is already preparing for our annual Christmas Cards for Troops initiative, gathering together to write heartfelt holiday messages to service members.

WE'RE KIND TO OUR MEMBERS, AS WELL AS THEIR WALLETS.

As a not-for-profit co-op, GreyStone Power has some of the lowest energy prices in the country. Our members pay 22% less than customers of the local for-profit power company. Your affordable power is also incredibly reliable, with a reliability rating of 99.98%. You'll see us out in the community, trimming trees and upgrading power lines to make sure you can count on your power when you need it.
