Cutting the costs of mailing more than 114,000 paper bills and envelopes is one factor that helps keep GreyStone's rates some of the lowest in the state and nation.

The most recent Georgia Public Service Commission surveys show GreyStone as a low-cost leader. Members who use 1,000 kWh monthly, which is nearest the average kWh use, enjoy the third lowest rate among 41 electric membership cooperatives in Georgia. A GreyStone member pays $102.19 for 1,000 kWh, based on GreyStone rates; a Georgia Power customer pays $127.34, according to the survey. GreyStone is the lowest-cost provider among all 41 EMCs for most efficient members, who use 500 kWh per month.

Lower winter rates began Nov. 1 and are in effect through May. Keep your thermostat set at 68 to save even more!

It pays to be a member of a not-for-profit electric cooperative like GreyStone! To compare your electric rates with other providers, visit www.psc.state.ga.us.
