Cutting costs to reduce rates

We're on Wallet Watch

With a rate reduction planned for the spring of 2016, and rates that are already among the lowest in the state,* GreyStone Power has been cutting costs to reduce rates.

We've held down operating expenses, negotiated lower power costs and worked with industry allies to ensure member concerns were heard on Capitol Hill.

2015 summer rate survey by the Georgia Public Service Commission. Based on 1,000 kilowatt hours monthly residential use.*

The cooperative recently returned $5 million in capital credits to members and offers energy efficiency seminars, home energy audits and tips.

When it comes to power bills, GreyStone Power is on wallet watch. We're working hard to provide you with reliable and cost-competitive electricity.
